29 Candidates to Face City Voters on Next Tuesday

Every Office to Be Contested in Preferential Primary Election

5 SEEK MAYORSHIP

19 Running for Alderman—8 to Be Chosen by Vote of Entire City

Twenty-nine candidates will face the voters of Hope at the Democratic preferential primary election next Tuesday, January 27.

It will be Hope's first election as a city of the first class, and is a special election made necessary because the 1930 federal census showing this city to have a population of 6,008 came just after the regular election of that year.

As a result, the city is faced with its second series of elections in two years. The first primary January 27 will be followed by the run-off primary in March, and the general election in April.

Vote All Aldermen

A new development in this year's voting is the first that ward aldermen will be chosen by a ballot of the entire city. An alderman must actually reside in the ward from which he is a candidate, as always; but instead of voting merely for two men in his own ward, the citizen will now cast his ballot for two men in each ward of the entire city. This is the result of a new ruling by the state attorney general at Little Rock.

There is a contest for every office in the city except the recorder and city attorney, who will hold office until 1933. Officials elected this spring will serve two years, except four of the eight aldermen. The aldermen will probably draw lots to determine which four will hold office until 1933, and which four must stand for office again in 1932.

In the future the city will vote for mayor, police judge, treasurer and one alderman from each ward, on the odd year; and on the even year will elect a city recorder, city attorney, and one alderman from each ward. This will change only half the complexion of the city council each election, instead of the entire council, as at present.

The mayor's race, with five candidates, looms up as one of the hottest in many years. There are three candidates for the new office of police judge, two for city treasurer, and 19 men are seeking the eight aldermanic seats. There are four or more candidates for alderman in each ward.

List of Candidates

Candidates whose names will appear on the ballot January 27 follow:
For Mayor (vote for one): John P. Vessey, Dorsey McRae, Giles H. Gibsey, J. L. Jamison, Ruff Boyett.

For Police Judge (Vote for one): S. F. Huntley, Pat Casey, U. A. Gentry.

For Treasurer (Vote for one): J. W. Harper, Dale Jones.

For Alderman—Ward 1 (Vote for two): R. L. Gosnell, E. G. Coop, Don Smith, T. C. Crenshaw, John Bartlett, John W. Dawson.

For Alderman—Ward 2 (Vote for two): Luther Garner Roy Stevenson, J. L. Green, Luther Rogers, Frank Ward.

For Alderman—Ward 3 (Vote for two): W. A. Lewis, Theo P. Witt, Ralph Routon, Roy Johnson.

For Alderman—Ward 4 (Vote for two): J. A. Sullivan, Ira Halliburton, Chas. Shiver, Chas. E. Taylor.

Baton Rouge Boosts Baby-a-Month Club

BATON ROUGE, La.—(U.P.)—Aggressive Baton Rouge merchants have organized a Baby-a-Month Club here, carrying on the great American custom of the month clubs.

The club, as it is now operating, presents the first baby born in Baton Rouge each month giving ranging from thermometers for its bath to flowers for its mother.

The January baby-of-the-month is young Roy Neames, according to club records, and he has been presented with the varied birthday gifts. However, since the presentation another claimant to the title, and the gifts, has set up a wall with the assertion by fond parents that she was born some minutes before Baby Roy. The latter is in full possession of blankets, with silver spoon and all the rest, though directors of the club have announced that Baby Roy will retain the title and the gifts.

Legion Will Visit Blevins Wednesday

Mrs. Jessie Purdie, aunt of County Judge Luther Higginson of this city, died Tuesday night at her home in Lockesburg, according to word reaching here from Sevier county.

Mrs. Purdie is to be buried Wednesday afternoon, with funeral service at Lockesburg.

Bank Probe Plans Are Advanced by Senate

Resolution Appointing Investigating Committee to Examine Insurance and Banking Departments Amended By Senate and Returned to the House for Final Action

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The Senate Wednesday amended the house resolution for the investigation of Arkansas' recent banking and insurance company failures.

The resolution, which was sponsored by Clark in the house and Bailey in the senate, will be known as the Clark-Bailey resolution and will provide for a joint investigating legislative committee.

The resolution now goes back to the house for concurrence in the senate amendments.

The inquiry will attempt to determine the cause of Arkansas' bank failures and will investigate the state insurance and banking departments.

A bill for reapportionment of the house membership, based on the new population figures reported in the 1930 federal census, was introduced in the house by Wheatley of Craighead county.

A similar bill suggesting reapportionment in the senate was introduced in that body early in the present session.

Wheatley's house bill would provide for a house membership of 100, as at present—but some counties would lose and others would gain.

Senators Purkins and Kinzey introduced a bill in the senate to require the State Construction Commission to proceed immediately with the erection of the State Hospital for Nervous Diseases on the Benton site, which was originally announced, but where construction has been mysteriously delayed.

Ritchie Company Declares Dividend

$8,000,000 Gross for 1930 Reported at Annual Meeting in Camden

CAMDEN.—One of the best stockholders' meetings in recent years was held at the Ritchie Grocer company Friday night at which over 50 stockholders were present.

Many of the stockholders were agreeably surprised at the business done in 1930 according to J. W. Holleman, president of the company. The affairs of the company were handled so efficiently that a profit was declared the past year despite the business depression, the drought and other unforeseen circumstances.

A six per cent dividend was declared and total business was approximately $8,000,000 for 1930. This is a decrease over the record year of 1929, but was very favorable comparing the conditions with other years.

Branches are maintained at Camden, Bearden, Hope, Gurdon, Nashville, DeQueen, Ashdown, Texarkana, Waldo, El Dorado, and Snackover, Arkansas; Alexandria, Ruston, Maynesville, Monroe, Bastrop, Georgetown and Jonesboro, Louisiana.

Officers are J. W. Holleman, Camden, president; B. F. Thompson, Alexandria, vice president; R. N. Benson, El Dorado vice president; J. S. Heard, Ruston, vice president; M. M. Smyth, Hope, vice president; L. V. Benson, Waldo, vice president; W. J. May, Camden, vice president; J. P. Wright, Camden, secretary-treasurer, and Ed Buckles, Camden, assistant secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors is composed of the above named officials and J. S. Alpin of El Dorado.

Large Deer Strays Into Farmer's Yard

First Deer Seen in Section for Many Years According to Citizens

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark.—(U.P.)—During a snowstorm here recently, a large buck deer wandered into the yard of John Foster only six miles from this city.

The deer stalked about the yard nonchalantly until it espied a negro and raced away down the road. Several rabbit hunters took pot shots at the deer with light shot but it raced away unharmed.

According to residents, it was the first time in many years that a deer has wandered into this community and it was believed that it came into this section from the western part of Mississippi county.

New Orleans Has 2500 Out on Dry Sentence

NEW ORLEANS.—(U.P.)—Approximately 2,500 persons in New Orleans are at liberty with suspended sentences of a year or more in the penitentiary hanging over them as a result of prohibition offenses.

This means that more than one-half of one per cent of New Orleans' population, including children, if caught violating any city, state or federal law will have to serve prison sentences.

Other prohibition enforcement figures show that 900 buildings in New Orleans are either closed by padlock for liquor law violations on the premises, or have been reopened on large bonds which were forfeited and the places closed without resort to bond if any law is violated there again.

Of a total of 849 criminal cases in federal court here the last year, 649 were for prohibition violations.

T. Crumpton Wins Race in Texarkana

Texas City Holds Preferential Primary for Municipal Offices

TEXARKANA.—Travers Crumpton, young attorney making his first bid for elective office, defeated the veteran William V. Brown for city attorney of Texarkana, Texas, in the Democratic preferential primary Tuesday. As there were no other candidates, Crumpton's victory was equivalent to nomination and election.

Chief of Police J. H. Lanier, seeking re-election, and W. J. Watlington, were high men in the contest, chief of police and will go into the run-off primary.

A. B. Jordan and G. W. Middleton were high for tax assessor.

Bishop Cannon to Be Put on Trial

Methodist Official Will Face Board of 12 at Washington

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Bishop Cannon Jr. will face charges before a Board of Elders of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, within the next three weeks.

It was learned here Tuesday a committee of 12 elders to act as a preliminary trial board had been arranged, and that the bishop would be brought before it at the Mount Vernon Methodist Episcopal church, South, here within three weeks, but on a date not yet available for announcement.

The elders will decide whether or not the charges warrant submitting the case to the next General Conference of the church. The case would go to conference only in the event two thirds of the Board of Elders favor that action.

No information was available as to the make-up of the Board of Elders who would preside or the exact nature of the charges which were preferred by a committee of clergymen several months ago.

The bishop is at Marlin, Tex., recuperating from a serious illness. The charges were filed by Dr. Forrest J. Prentiss of Baltimore, Dr. J. T. Masten and Dr. Costen J. Harrell of Richmond, Va., and Dr. I. P. Martin of Abingdon, Va.

The exact nature of the accusations never were made public. It was understood at the time, however, they related to his activities in the stock market and in the last presidential campaign.

Bishop Cannon was in Brazil on his honeymoon when the charges were brought and he contended church rules had not been observed and questioned the legality of the action.

Navy Hydrographic Office Aids Fliers

DETROIT.—(U.P.)—Of the 2,000,000 or more people who patronized the air lines of the United States in 1930, few knew or credited to the Navy hydrographic office the fact that this department's work made cross country flying safe.

It is this office that draws the imaginary lines around the globe, by which airplane and ship pilots find their way. Without the charts and maps, pilots would be at the mercy of storms and high winds. The department recently observed its one hundredth anniversary. Examples of the department's work will be displayed here at the National Aircraft show in April.

State Cracks Its Whip on County Farm Agent Issue

Take Both Agents or None—Others Do—Hempstead Is Told

ROUTON WITHDRAWS

Resigns From Co. Committee—Local Drouth Loans in Danger

Unless Hempstead county is willing to employ both the farm and home demonstration agents, it will get none—and without the Extension Service program which the agents represent, this county is unlikely to get its full share of the federal government's drouth relief loan.

This much was learned by Ralph Routon, president of Hope Chamber of Commerce, on his return from a second trip to Little Rock, where he interviewed T. Roy Reid, director of Extension Service, and made a personal appeal to the State Drouth Relief Committee.

Mr. Routon immediately tendered his resignation to the Little Rock authorities as a member of the Hempstead County Drouth Relief Committee. The other members are: W. Y. Foster, Hope; and H. M. Stephens, of Blevins.

County Reconsiders

Upon being notified of the State Drouth Relief Committee's determination to force the Extension Service issue in all counties, the Little River County Quorum Court met in special session at Ashdown Tuesday and voted unanimously to employ both the farm and home demonstration agents. The Little River county judge agreed to carry out the program despite great financial difficulties.

Although some provision is to be made for counties in which there is no county agent program, the state has classified all counties according to their financial resources, and is adopting a "hard-boiled" policy toward those counties which are well off as compared to some that are now sustaining the county agent work, so Mr. Routon learned at Little Rock.

Reid "Hard-Boiled"

County Judge Luther Higginson was prepared to pay the county's share of the salary of the farm agent, but was understood; but Mr. Reid flatly refused to permit the man-agent to be set up in Hempstead without the woman-agent also.

Following this announcement, Mr. Routon carried his county's appeal to the State Drouth Relief Committee, also in Little Rock; but he was told that this body endorsed the position previously announced by Director Reid of the Extension Service.

The drouth relief organization which under favorable circumstances might make available to this county $100,000 in crop loans from the federal government next month is first taking care of the counties which have the field organization to make the government relief program effective.

Assurance that Hempstead county would not be overlooked entirely in the federal loan program, was contained in a telegram from Congressman Tilman B. Parks to Monte Seed Store early this month; and press dispatches contained practically the same assurance.

May Get Bit Little

However, Mr. Routon's interview with authorities at Little Rock convinced him, he told The Star, that unless Hempstead got the county agent program going full blast within two or three weeks this section would obtain only a fraction of the money rightfully due it for crop loans this spring. He said it would be impossible in his opinion to carry out the government program without the agents, and unless the agents are obtained the government will minimize its relief loans in this county because of the uncertainty as to where and how the money will be spent.

Mr. Routon, therefore, tendered his resignation as a member of the Hempstead County Drouth Relief Committee.

Comparative figures quoted against Hempstead county by counties now employing both agents, put this county in a bad light. Mr. Routon was told at Little Rock, Hempstead county's last tax collections showed a total of $43,000, on a 4-1-2 mill tax; but the county employs no agents. Lafayette county, with $24,100 collections on a 5-mill tax, employs both agents. So do the following counties: Nevada, $23,900, on a 5-mill tax; Hot Spring, $27,000, on a 5-mill tax; Clark county, $40,000, on a 5-mill tax.

Rene Locoste, once premier tennis player of the world, forced out of competition during 1930 by poor health, likely will not be available to the 1931 French Davis cup team.

Hawks and Rogers To Tour Arkansas

Aviator and Humorist Will Put on Series of Vaudeville Benefits

NEW YORK.—(P)—Capt. Frank Hawks, speed flyer and Will Rogers, humorist, hopped off Wednesday afternoon for Washington to confer with Red Cross officials.

Thursday they will fly to Little Rock, where Rogers will start looking over conditions in the Southwest. The pair will give vaudeville skits for drouth sufferers in a tour of the Southwest.

Hawks will return here for radio engagements, from Little Rock; and next Tuesday is to rejoin Rogers at San Antonio, Texas.

Old Guardsman Recalls Plot to Egg Lincoln

CHRISTOPHER, Ill.—(U.P.)—George Washington Doctorman, 85, is one of the last of the national guardsmen who presented a mob from robbing President-elect Abraham Lincoln as he passed through Louisville, Ky., en route to Washington to be inaugurated, he said.

"A big crowd was waiting at the Louisville station for Lincoln's train," Doctorman said, "and all of the people were angry. Some had stones in their hands, but the majority carried rotten eggs. When the train came to a stop the crowd was ready to let Lincoln 'have it' when my company of national guardsmen came up with drawn bayonets and made the people fall back.

"President-elect Lincoln walked around on the station platform until the train left, but no violence was done to him."

Skaters Warned of Ice

WASHINGTON.—(U.P.)—Skaters are advised by the American Red Cross to "know their ice" before they participate in this winter sport. A statement of the director of the life saving service warns that four-inch ice is the only kind safe for general skating purposes.

Green Is Forecast as Color of Men's Clothing This Year

That's the word that came Friday from the semi-annual convention of the International Association of Clothing Designers.

Here's more of the style forecast: Shoulders will be broader; designers decreed, waists slimmer and higher, coats longer, pockets set high, sleeves narrow at the hand without being stilted, and return of the notched lapel for sport clothes.

Wickersham Report Declared Confusing and of Little Value

Extracts of editorial opinion from representative newspapers in the United States on the Wickersham Commission report follows:

New York Evening Post—"The commissioners should have gone further in taking into their hands the courage and candor which Mr. Hoover tried to deny them. They are wet in their separate reports and dry in their general report. It is not a pretty exhibition by honorable men supposedly seated around a table to solve a great national problem."

Brooklyn (N. Y.) Eagle—"The report will satisfy neither the militant dries nor the militant wets."

New York World—"The commissioners are unanimous in sweeping away the pretension that the experiment of constitutional prohibition is within sight of success."

Thrift Program Is Observed By Club

Magnolia College Speakers Address Local Business Women Tuesday

National Thrift Week, which is being widely observed throughout the country at this time, provided the theme for the meeting of the Hope Business & Professional Women's Club which was held at Hotel Barlow Tuesday night, with Miss Emma Green, of the Hope Star, as hostess.

American flags were lavishly used for decorations on the large dining table, around which were gathered twenty-three members and four guests. The fact that the day previous had been the 124th anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee, received attention, when Mrs. J. A. Henry read his farewell address to his soldiers at Appomattox. One of the two copies of this message, in his own handwriting, now known to exist, is the property of Mrs. George S. Spangins, of this city; her father, Major John F. Green having been on General Lee's staff. A tribute to General Lee was also read, and greatly enjoyed.

The remainder of the evening's program was provided by the Magnolia A. & M. Co. Hays—G. G. Martel and Misses Maude Crumpler, Ruby Bussey and Ila Verne Crisp.

In defining thrift, Mr. Martel stated that it was "a national or judicious use of our resources," and classified these resources as time, talent, health and wealth.

"All of us are not equally endowed with the latter three resources," continued Mr. Martel, "but time is given to all, and because of modern invention, more and more time is now being given to humankind to do with as we please. Some one has said, 'Tell me what you do with your time, and I'll tell you what you are,' and its employment or nonemployment marks us as being either thrifty or wasteful."

"Most persons have more talents than they realize, but because of disuse, much of their value is lost. The success or failure of a life is governed by the increase or decrease of inherent ability. There is only one means of increasing talent,—by cultivation. This applies not only to individuals, but to society in general."

"Today, better means of education are provided than ever before, but governmental attention along specific lines of improvement is needed and should be obtained whenever and wherever possible."

Wealth is not the most important thing in life, though many of us have come to think so, especially in these trying times. Health is our greatest asset and the best means of attaining wealth. It is a prime requisite for success, regardless of our choice of activity. The United States Government and practically all state and local governments recognize this fact

One Cent Gas Tax Increase To Raise $20,000,000 Fund

Program Would Run Five Years, at $4,000,000 Per Year

ADDITIONAL BONDS

Parnell Says New Issue Would Require Property Tax for Security Only

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Governor Parnell laid before the legislature Wednesday afternoon a plan for a $20,000,000 five-year county road building program calling for an annual expenditure of $4,000,000.

Addressing a joint session of the house and senate, the executive submitted a comprehensive program for a farm-to-market highway system.

The plan would create county road boards of three members each, which would be assisted by the chairman of the State Highway Commission and the highway engineer in letting contracts.

To Increase Gas Tax

Revenue for the system would be derived from an increase of one cent in the gasoline tax, which it is expected would produce $1,000,000 annually, and from yearly bond issues beginning in 1933 of $3,000,000 each.

The bond issue proceeds would be divided among the counties 50 per cent on the basis of population and 50 per cent on area.

One million would be divided by the State Highway Department among counties matching the state allotment. Should the counties match the state allotment, the total for county road construction would be raised to $5,000,000 annually.

Additional Security

Bonds derived from the sales of bonds, the governor said, would have to be secured by slight increases in the property tax, but the property tax would be for security only, and the bonds would be paid for as they matured out of the gasoline tax, and collection of the property tax would not be necessary.

Governor Parnell said the reason for the necessity of the property tax security is that the gasoline and license tax proceeds of the state have already been used to secure highway note issues, and the county highway bonds would be a second lien and therefore unsaleable.

The governor said he would ask the committee on roads and highways of both houses to introduce and sponsor the bill for the county road program.

PARIS.—(P)—The French—Italian naval construction treaty, agreed upon last year after the two countries failed to adhere to the principal sections of the London naval treaty was said to have ended.

Ten Traveling Dolls Take Four Baths a Day

MADISON, Wis.—(U.P.)—Ten dolls which travel extensively and take three or four baths a day have their headquarters in the state capital here. They are the demonstration "babies" used in the infant hygiene course that the state board of health offers in Wisconsin's public schools.

More than 31,000 school girls have used the dolls since 1923 to acquire technique which they now are putting into practice in their own homes.

Many boys are enrolling in the course throughout the state, the board disclosed, interpreting this as a feeling that "the present trend of women's activity may bring the rearing of future generations squarely within the mere husband's province."

Divorce Judge Sponsors New Marriage Law

CLEVELAND.—(U.P.)—Judge A. J. Pearson, who awarded nearly 5,000 divorce decrees in Cuyahoga county last year, is the sponsor of a bill to be introduced in the State Legislature, proposing a change in the marriage laws.

The bill provides (1), that marriage licenses be issued not less than five days after applications are made; (2), that a daily wage of $2 be paid families when husband or father is sentenced to jail for non-support; and (3), that one year's residence in county and three years in state be required before divorce petitions can be filed.

The Corn Sugar Ruling

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE HYDE'S recent ruling that it is no longer necessary to indicate on the labels of food products the fact that they have been sweetened with corn sugar, instead of with cane sugar, has provoked an unusual amount of comment.

The secretary defends this action as an aid to agriculture. He asserts, and will thereby be a great boon to the farmers of the corn belt. At the same time, he insists that corn sugar has now been refined to such an extent that it is practically as good, and fully as healthful, as cane sugar—which was by no means the case, when the federal food and drug act was first written.

On the other hand, there have been charges that the ruling weakens the whole food and drug act, and goes contrary to its spirit by refusing to give the purchaser the chance to know exactly what ingredients go into his food.

A recent editorial in The Journal of the American Medical Association is of considerable interest, presenting as it does the viewpoint of medical science on the matter. It is worth quoting from here.

"Legislation and the administration of laws," says the editorial, "are usually years behind scientific progress in their application to human life. Apparently secretary Hyde has endeavored by his decision to give to the public the benefit of scientific progress in the utilization of a cheaper sweet-ening agent. Such action is commendable.

"However, if such a decision should in any way undermine the purpose of the food and drug act, if it should encourage sophistication and adulteration of food without reasonable declaration, so that the purchaser may be suitable warned, the gain will be more than offset by the loss. The issuing of this pronouncement places on the food and drug administration of the Department of Agriculture an increased responsibility for the maintenance of standards in a field increased responsibility for the maintenance of standards in a field in which vigilance must be constant because of innumerable attempts at infraction of the code. The decision may make necessary, at least temporarily, a larger service for inspection and a more rigid control over labels and even over advertising."

And that seems to sum it up very well. The corn sugar ruling in itself seems fair enough; but care must be taken that it does not lead to a relaxation of the operation of the food and drug act in other lines.

I Do Not Have Time

"I do not have time." How often we hear the expression.
This excuse is most often given when some are called un-on to do a bit of community work.

It may be for the Red Cross, the raising of the Chamber of Commerce budget, the church budget, or any one of a dozen pieces of community work. Whatever it is, this individual does not have time.

The committee in its extremity turns to the busy man, the lawyer who has two or three clients waiting in his office, the man who works far into the night to make up for the services he gives the community. Somehow, some way, he gets the work done. It has happened so many times that the saying has come to stay, "if you want to get a thing done call on a busy man."

The man who never has any time, as a rule, is a poor manager. He is working at a low degree of efficiency. He putters away his mornings and fiddles away his afternoons.
He has no system, no plan, no definite direction of his efforts.
He wastes three-fourths of his time and doesn't know it. He thinks he is busy! He works himself to death in his mind, but his actual accomplishments do not show up.

Most of the things that have come to this community through the effort of someone, have come, not through the efforts of the fellow who has worked for them in his leisure moments, but through the efforts of the busy man who made time to crowd some community work into an already busy day.

Youth—A State of Mind

YOUTH is not a time of life—it is a state of mind. It is not a matter of ripe cheeks, red lips, and supple knees, it is a temper of the will, a quality of the imagination, a vigor of the emotions; it is a freshness of the deep springs of life.

Youth means a temperamental predominance of courage over timidity, of the appetite of adventure over love of ease.
This often exists in a man of fifty, more than in a boy of twenty.

Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years.
People grow old only by deserting their ideals. Years wrinkle the skin, but to give up enthusiasm wrinkles the soul. Worry, doubt, self-distrust, fear and despair—these are the long, long years that bow the head and turn the growing spirit back to dust.

Whether seventy or sixteen, there is in every being's heart the love of wonder, the sweet amazement at the stars and starlike things and thoughts, the undaunted challenge of events, the unfailing childlike appetite for what next, and the joy in the game of life.

You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt, as young as your self confidence, as old as your fear; as young as your hope, as old as your despair.—Current Topics.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Life in the little town of Red Thrush, Iowa, was too unexciting to suit GINGER ELA TOLL-IVER, so she conceived the idea of organizing a Junior Country Club and thus saving the younger set from complete boredom. Accordingly she arranged for the purchase of the Mill Rush farm, a 10-acre tract with an old running house on it, and she arranged with JENNY BROOKS and her husband, MILD and HENRY BROOKS, to act as chaperones.

The idea was that the club was to be exclusive. No parents allowed—and no children. The motion was heartily seconded by Ginger's intimates, all of them leading spirits in Red Thrush—
EDDY JACKSON, WENDEY
MEIKER, and PATTY SEARS.

Ginger was the daughter of a minister and the stepdaughter of a very wealthy woman, the former PHIL VAN DOORN.

The farm and farm house bought, Ginger proceeded with a general overhauling in which all the high school kids of Red Thrush enthusiastically assisted.

Furnishings were donated, Eddy Jackson even gave an old more-named MRS. JACKSON. And then the leading spirits proceeded with the formal organization of the club.

It was agreed that the purpose was to have a good time. And one day, while the rebuilding of the old house was going on, Ginger was in the kitchen of her home making cookies, assisted by GOODY, the cook, when a shadow fell across the doorway.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER VII

"I BEG your pardon, madam," said a pleasant low voice, "but how would you like to exchange a good square meal of the sort that whose exhalation is an aroma so completely delightful, for a small crayon portrait of yourself—similar to this sketch I have here?"

"What?" asked Goody, who was a direct woman.

"I merely wondered," continued the pleasant voice, "if you would not like to have a small crayon sketch of yourself, by myself? Like this. I assure you I am quite good.

I studied at the best schools in Philadelphia and New York, I won a three years' scholarship in Paris, and I have the very best of recommendations. In exchange for a square meal, with as much of the culinary fragrance as I can assimilate."

"Do you mean," inquired Goody pausingly, "that you think you could make a picture look like that and look like me?"

The voice coughed deprecatingly.

"Alas, that even the divinest of the arts should be thus circumsscribed," it mourned. "But one of this general size and style at any rate—a likeness of you—and it must be a very good dinner. Why, a true paragon of the arts would pay

25, 50 dollars for a sketch like this done by an honor student of three fine art schools!"

"I think he wants something to eat," said Goody apologetically,

"Why, you're not at all bad looking!" he said in a tone of great surprise.
"Not bad looking!" repeated Ginger. "Well, I rather hope I'm not."

"Go ahead!" she commanded.

"Do me!"

.....

"WHY, you're not at all bad

looking!" he said in a tone of great surprise.

"Not—bad looking!" repeated

Ginger. "Well, I rather hope I'm not. Most people consider me extrêmement good looking. Extremely!

Look at my mouth. Could an artist paint a 'etter bow? It's better with lipstick, but I always lick it off when I get to work. Look at my eyes—there's a blue for you. And see how my lashes curl up. Not bad looking!"

"Of course I'd rather be a brunet

if I could choose," she added, in a tone that was almost friendly, "but as blonds go, I'm supposed to hold my own."

"Gosh, you—you're frank about it," he said faintly.

"Why not? It's the truth, isn't it? You admitted that you are a good artist, didn't you? If you were good looking, would you be above saying so?"

"Why, am I such an eyesore as all that?" he asked in some amusement.

"Oh, you're all right," she said

kindly. "I probably won't be bragging about my looks either when they made me study to broaden my mind when I wouldn't go to college was one on society in general. I had to read a book on Dependents,

Defectives and Delinquents."

"WHAT'S that got to do with me?"

"Everything," she said firmly.

"For you're one of them. It told all about you—the book did.

"Any woman who hands out food to a hobo over the back porch is absolutely contributing to his moral delinquency. She's as bad as he is.

Every man has a right to a living age and proper living conditions.

It says in the book that every man can earn a living if he is willing to work."

"Now, I don't care anything about having my portrait done. I am not one of those soft and spineless women who contributes to the moral delinquency of her fellow beings. But I just made up my mind to tell you what's what and make you ashamed of yourself."

"Perhaps you've never had a chance to study that sort of thing, and don't realize that at your age you should be able to retire and live in quiet comfort for the rest of your life with your children and grandchildren about your knee—

one generation at a time, of course —and all of you—er—living on your income. You—you would be a

Mrs. Sid Henry Telephone 321

If you walk in honor then honest men will meet you along the way.
If you are false you will find men false wherever you chance to stray.
For good breeds good and bad breeds bad, we are met by the traits we show;
Love will find a friend at the stranger's door, where hate will find a foe.
For each of us builds the world he knows which only himself can spoil;
And an hour of hate or an hour of shame can ruin a life of toil.
And though to the utmost ends of the earth your duty may bid you fare,
If you go with truth and a friendly heart you will find friends waiting you there.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE IN MEMORY OF BROTHER PAUL KAISER

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God, the supreme architect of the universe, to call from labor to refreshment our beloved Brother Paul Kaiser.

This committee esteems it a great privilege to offer the following resolutions:

Brother Kaiser was an ardent and consistent member of Whitfield Lodge No. 239 F. & A. M., tolerant, charitable, kind and true, always concerned with the welfare of his brethren and deeply interested in the activities of the lodge.

In the state, and community in which he lived, he was a quiet and peaceable citizen, a man of sterling character who always had the courage of his convictions and an inflexible fidelity to the principles for which he stood.

Therefore, be it resolved that we do hereby express our profound sympathy for his family in the loss we have all sustained, our admiration for him as a Christian Gentleman, an upright and honorable citizen, and our love and esteem for him as a member of our lodge.

Resolved further, that a page of the records of our lodge be set apart and dedicated to his memory; a copy of those resolutions be placed in the hands of his loved ones, and a copy be sent to the Hope Star with the request for publication.

and the Child's Welfare Bureau of the Department of Labor is fostering the greatest movement for the conservation of our native wealth—the health of our children. A strong, well-nourished child has a much better chance of development into a good citizen, than a sickly, under-nourished one.

"Wealth," continued Mr. Martel, "is the possession of all these commodities which have the ability to supply our wants. In order to be prosperous, production must exceed consumption, creating a surplus which is available at all times. Credit is one of the essentials which must be considered and consists of the establishment and maintenance of faith between individuals and businesses. It is an asset which must not be dissipated and without it business becomes stagnant. A thrifty person or nation must be honest at all times, and without this element, governments cannot stand."

Miss Bussey gave as her first reading, "Home, Sweet Home," and as an encore, "Cow Bells." Her work in the Magnolia A. & M. Little Theater has been outstanding and she shows much promise of a successful career.

Mr. Crisp's rendition of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Song of India" delighted her audience and she was encored again and again.

Mr. Martel, who is the possessor of a splendid voice, accompanied by Miss Crumpler, a member of the A. & M. faculty, sang, "Until," "A Chip Off the Old Block," and "Was Most Gracious in Responding to several encores.

The club deeply appreciated these visitors and their work speaks very highly for the school which they represent.

During the business session, presided over by Miss Mary Arnold, an invitation from the Rotary Club to lunch with them on January 30th, was accepted. This is in keeping with the plans of the recently organized Civic Council. The regular meeting of the B. & P. W. Club on the evening of February 3, will be dispensed with because of the joint meeting only a few days earlier. Miss Beryl Henry will present an educational program on the evening of February 17th, when regular meetings will be resumed.

Mrs. J. A. Henry, Miss Maude Lipscomb and Miss Volle Read, were appointed to sponsor relief work on the part of the entire membership. Food, clothing and money for the aid of needy children who are attending Hope schools, is desired. Miss Henry superintendent of Hope schools, stated that this help was imperative if many children were to be enabled to remain in school, and not only food and clothing but books must be provided for them. She stated that many had already contributed generously, and that food was now being provided at the Oglesby and Shover Street schools, but that help from the entire community must be received at once. This work is in keeping with that already being done by the P. T. A., and its benefits are so far-reaching that no citizen who is able to help, should refuse to do so.

First National at Jackson, $2,000,000 Deposits, Suspends Tuesday

JACKSON, Miss.—(A)—The First National Bank of Jackson, carrying deposits of approximately $2,000,000, failed to open for business Tuesday.

A notice posted on the front door stated that the comptroller of currency and the chief national bank examiner had been advised to take over the bank for liquidation.

The bank was capitalized at $200,000.

A statement issued late last night by the Board of Directors said the action was taken because of a gradual withdrawal and seepage of deposits day by day which culminated in practically a run Saturday.

The directors also said that the rumors had been widespread concerning the bank's condition and to open today would result in a run on the bank.

Lady Who Had Suffered Took Cardui Until She Felt Perfectly Well.

Huntington, W. Va.—How a West Virginia woman got rid of a nervous, painful condition is described below by Mrs. Nettie Meehling, of 50 "A" Street, this city, who writes:

"Twelve years ago, I was in bad health. I was nervous. I couldn't eat, sleep or work. My household tasks were a burden, and I had to drag around to get them done.

"I could not sleep a night through, and at the least thing I would go all to pieces. My back ached and my limbs hurt, too.

"I began taking Cardui because a friend urged me to do so. It was not long until I was feeling much better. My improvement was steady. I soon got so I could eat and sleep just like I did before I was taken sick. I continued taking Cardui until I felt perfectly well.

"Since that time I have taken Cardui when I was run-down and felt weak. I can recommend Cardui to other women for I found it a great help when I was ill."

Jacksonville (Fla.) Journal: "The report of the committee as a whole leaves the prohibition muddle just where it is now."

Danville (Va.) Register: "The political front of the commission is a disappointing verdict—hung jury. It is interesting to note that Newton D. Baker was for repeal. He thus becomes distinctly eligible for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1932."

Charlotte (N. C.) Observer: "The Wickersham report, as a whole, warrants no jubilation on the part of either the wets or the dries."

William Allen White in the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette: "The Wickersham report is a breakdown of the theory that there is political wisdom in experts. To Wickersham means to go around and around honestly, earnestly, intelligently and get nowhere. Governments and people are led and educated by leaders with definite convictions, not by inquiring groups with many ideas. We cannot Wickersham ourselves out of this situation."

The Kansas City Star: The report

commission has settled nothing. In its confusion and in the clashing opinions of its members it probably reflects the confusion in public thought that has developed in the working out of national prohibition.

The Post-Mortem. FOOTBALL'S autopsy is well under way. From now until after New Year's Day, all sorts of schemes for bettering the game will be heard, and there will be general criticism of this and that feature of the season's play. It will be suddenly discovered that a wonderful season has just been completed despite certain rules that are atrocious, complex, silly, superfluous and inadequate.

One of the newer suggestions emanates from Marquette University and Coach Frank Murray. Coach Murray says the spectator wants to see more offense in football because he likes scoring. Says Frank:

"The coach wants to see more offense because he is a rotten of fensive coach when his team is held inside the opponents' five-yard line. Why is the defense held? Because the defensive backfield is close to the scrimmage line; the backs do not have to cover much 'peeling territory' for the end zone is but 10 yards deep.

"Now, if the end zone were 20 yards deep it would tend to keep the defensive men back and make the running game stronger; or if the backs came up too close there would be a better chance for an offensive team to pass to a touchdown. Result: There would be more scoring and that is what the public wants."

Some Constructive Hints

A GOOD suggestion. But why stop at 20 yards for the end zone? Why not make each end zone 45 yards deep, with the other 10 yards reserved for playing space?

Or, why not move each goal five yards nearer to the center of the field? Then teams surely never would be held "within the opponents' five-yard line."

Why have four downs? Returning to the original suggestion, in a playing field 10 yards between goals, why not have just one down? If the team failed to make a touchdown on its down, the ball would go over to the enemy in midfield.

The fans want to see more scoring. All right. In a field 10 yards from goal to goal, you either would have a score or you would not have one. If the team should make a score, why give the team a mere 5 points? Why not give a team 100 points per touchdown? Notre Dame would have beaten U. S. C. at that rate by 400 to 0. A much more decisive score than 27 to 0.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

THEY didn't give Len Harvey, the British middleweight, any too soft a touch when they matched the young man with Vince Dundee for his debut the night of Jan. 9.

Len comes hailed as a British pugilist, and almost a heavyweight, too, who not only has remained erect in most of his fights, but has knocked out 200 battlers out of 350 chances.

He bears no scars, they say, though you usually have to look at the back of a British fighter's neck for marks of battle. . . and maybe they haven't got a good look at his back yet.

He beat Dave Shade last summer, which is a pretty fair recommendation. . . Len fought and ate his way up from the flyweight division.

Len brought along Mrs. Harvey . . . who wants "to see all the night clubs and everything" . . . which might indicate that Len's work is all cut out for him.

A Round Ball

DID you ever wonder whether or not coaches or other football authorities had stopped to think of the tremendous possibilities of playing the game with a baseball instead of the awkward oval implement in use now?

The ends could wear first basemen's mitts on offense, and it would add a novel touch to have the defensive ends and backs equipped with baseball bats. Over the fence would be two bases.

The point after touchdown also has come up for serious discussion. Only the die-hards will claim that there is any use in keeping this obsolete relic that has long since outlived its service. But how about an alternative to add snap and go to the game? Let the quarterback of the team which has just scored a touchdown bat three fungoes with the newer-smaller-rounder ball. The teams should be made to scramble for these fungoes. The scoring team, in order to complete the count, adding 75 points to its 100 for touchdown, would have to catch two out of three of these fungoes. It might add to the zest to require that the catch, in order to be thrilling to the spectators, be made in the teeth, vest pocket or in a freshman cap.

There are so many ways of improving the game!

Carolina Woman Lost 47 Pounds In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C., Jan. 1930.

"P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Ward & Son, or Bryant's Drug Store, and druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back. Adv.

TOWN OF MONTCLAIR NEW JERSEY

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

CARL T. POMEROY, C. P. H. HEALTH OFFICER

June 10th, 1930

American Cigar Company, 111 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Dear Sirs:

As a public health officer, I cannot help but recognize the fact that your campaign to eliminate the evils resulting from promiscuous spitting and the spit-tipping method of cigar making is commendable and in line with the health work done by my own department.

I see that you call it a "Crusade of Decency". Certainly insanitary methods in cigar making are indecent. An advertising campaign like yours, which exposes such indecency and points the way to the cleansing of your industry, deserves the support of my department.

While I express no preference for your cigar over any other, I am pleased to inform you that I do endorse your campaign to show the public the advantages of avoiding insanitary practices. You are free to publish that fact or, if you wish, to publish this letter over my signature.

Very truly yours,
Carl T. Pomeroy

In this period of cold weather and cracked lips, above all insist on a cigar—free of the spit germ.
